Course Description

This course is designed to offer a comprehensive introduction to social psychology as an applied science to study how people influence each other's thoughts, feelings, and behaviors. We will explore and examine its core questions from both a theoretical and an applied basis.

Course Goals and Methodology

The main goal of this course is to understand what social psychology is; how this field of study has evolved into the current state of knowing; and how students can apply social psychology concepts to their own lives and experiences. The course combines lecture-based classes with a case study methodology. We will dedicate three classes to each unit. Every unit begins with several core questions, which gives way to class conversation and discussion. The instructor will present the theoretical contents of each unit in two lecture-based classes. In the third class of each unit, following a flipped classroom methodology, the students will prepare and present a number of case studies previously assigned by the instructor. Finally, each unit concludes with a self-check quiz and a number of broader questions to check students' progress and understanding are going well, and make sure students are prepared for the assessments across the course.

Learning Objectives

By the end of the course, students will:

- Explain what social psychology is and what social psychologists do
- Analyze important questions about social thought and behavior
- Apply social psychology concepts to their own lives and experiences
- Understand how our self-perceptions are influenced by others, and how we adjust our social self to influence others
- Explain social cognition as a combination of intuition and logic to process social information
- Understand how attitudes and persuasion work within the social world
- Explain how groups provide social and practical benefits to individuals, and analyze how groups can both help and hinder individual efforts
- Describe how prejudice and discrimination emerges, and apply methods of prejudice reduction
- Explain general motives for why helping and aggressive behaviors occur

- Discuss, compare and contrast different “attachment styles” and what this means in intimate relationships

Required Texts

There is no textbook required for this course. Therefore, students are not expected to purchase any material. The instructor will post the class material (Google Slides, case studies handouts, in-class worksheets, announcements, links, and any additional reading) on Blackboard, which is accessible both on campus and off campus. To log in, you need to sign in on <https://campusvirtual.upo.es> using the username and password you received in your orientation folder.

However, the contents of the course are mainly based on the following two textbooks:

- Heinzen, T. E., & Goodfriend, W. (2018). Social psychology. Los Angeles; London; New Delhi; Singapore; Washington DC; Melbourne: Sage.
- Heinzen, T. E., & Goodfriend, W. (2019). Case studies in social psychology critical thinking and application. Los Angeles; London; New Delhi; Singapore; Washington DC; Melbourne: Sage.

Course Requirements and Grading

Participation

In-class discussions will be encouraged at all sessions. Class participation will therefore be graded according to the students' previous work and reflections about the provided material. Active participation means not only attendance (being there \neq participation) but discussion with relevant basis (text-based and not just random personal experience and background), asking and answering questions in class, engaging in class discussions and conversations with classmates, questioning information presented and discussed. Students are also expected to actively participate in in-class exercises and to do some homework.

Participation points will be assigned based on the following criteria:

	Exemplary (9-10)	Proficient (8-9)	Developing (7-8)	Unacceptable (0-7)
Frequency of participation in class	Student initiates contributions more than once in each class.	Student initiates contribution once in each class.	Student initiates contribution at least in half of the classes.	Student does not initiate contribution & needs instructor to solicit input
Quality of comments	Comments always insightful & constructive; uses appropriate terminology. Comments balanced between general impressions, opinions & specific, thoughtful criticisms or contributions.	Comments mostly insightful & constructive; mostly uses appropriate terminology. Occasionally comments are too general or not relevant to the discussion.	Comments are sometimes constructive, with occasional signs of insight. Student does not use appropriate terminology; comments not always relevant to the discussion.	Comments are uninformative, lacking in appropriate terminology. Heavy reliance on opinion & personal taste, e.g., "I love it", "I hate it", "It's bad" etc.
Listening Skills	Student listens attentively when others present materials, perspectives, as indicated by comments that build on others' remarks, i.e., student hears what others say & contributes to the dialogue.	Student is mostly attentive when others present ideas, materials, as indicated by comments that reflect & build on others' remarks. Occasionally needs encouragement or reminder from T.A of focus of comment.	Student is often inattentive and needs reminder of focus of class. Occasionally makes disruptive comments while others are speaking.	Does not listen to others; regularly talks while others speak or does not pay attention while others speak; detracts from discussion; sleeps, etc.

Exams

Two examinations will be given (midterm and final), which will cover the concepts in the course and test conceptual and critical-thinking skills. Both exams will consist of multiple-choice, short answer, essay and/or case analysis/reflection questions.

Paper

During the semester, students will be composing a final paper. A five-page summary and reflection on a social psychology applied topic that will be provided by the instructor. Students will be asked to write a final paper on one of the following topics:

- Behavioral economics
- Environmental sustainability
- Law and the courtroom
- Happiness and positive psychology
- Stress and health
- Relationship violence
- Industrial/organizational psychology
- Volunteerism and internships

This paper is to be typed, double-spaced, using black 11-point Arial font. Please abide by the deadline set by your professor. If you submit your paper after the due date, then you should expect to be penalized (5% for every working day that your paper is late). Your papers should be clear and concise using proper concepts, correct spelling, and appropriate attribution for all sources. All writing is to follow the American Psychological Association (APA) Style for citations.

Case Study Oral Presentation

Students are required to prepare a 10-minute oral presentation (in pairs or small groups) on a case study (which will be assigned by the instructor as soon as the add/drop period ends). This presentation will be graded on evidence of preparation (organized presentation, presentation/discussion flows well, no awkward pauses or confusion, evidence you did your own research), content (accurate & relevant information, appeared knowledgeable about the case study and the topic discussed, offered strategies for dealing with the problems identified in the case study), delivery (clear and logical organization, effective introduction and conclusion, creativity, relevant transitions between the different parts of the presentation, oral communication skills—eye contact, well-designed presentation slides, use attractive, relevant and illustrative images), and discussion (presenter initiates and maintains class discussion concerning the case study, use of visual aides, good use of time, involves classmates).

On your day to present, please arrive on time (or early, if possible) and prepared with your presentation (Google Slides preferred, so that you can access it from the classroom computer). All members of the group should be involved, both in preparing and in delivering the presentation. Students will be graded individually. Following each presentation we will spend 5-10 minutes discussing the main ideas of the case presented. All students are expected to participate in the discussion, but some students will be designated discussants. These students should make sure that they have read the case study material before coming to class and note potential questions and points while listening to the presentation.

Your final grade will be calculated as follows:

- Participation (25%)
- Mid-term Exam (20%) —March, 14th
- Case Study Oral Presentation (10%)
- Final Paper (25%) —May, 16th
- Final Exam (20%) —TBA

Final Grade Expectations: The instructor will use the Spanish 10-point grading scale. The grades that will appear on your final transcript are also Spanish grades.

- Grade A/A- (9-10) — Outstanding performance showing a thorough knowledge and understanding of the topics of the course. The best possible grade.
- Grade B+/B (8-9) — Remarkable performance with general knowledge and understanding of the topics. Next highest.
- Grade B/B- (7-8) — Good performance with general knowledge and understanding of the topics. Indicates high average performance.
- Grade C+/C (6-7) — Fairly good performance showing an understanding of the course on a basic level. Indicates low average performance.
- Grade C/C- (5-6) — Passable performance showing a general and superficial understanding of the course's topics. Lowest passing grade
- Grade F (0-5) — Unsatisfactory performance in all assessed criteria. Failing grade.

Please be aware that anything below a 5 (i.e. a C- on the U.S. scale) is a failing grade. There is no pass/fail option at UPO. If you do not officially withdraw from a class by the withdrawal deadline, a failing grade will appear next to the course name. Check out the Student Handbook for the grade conversion table (some universities may use a slightly different scale).

General Course Policies

Each student is expected to be familiar with the course syllabus. Students are expected to focus their full attention on the class, arrive on time, and stay until class ends. Leaving the classroom on repeated occasions is disturbing to both your professor and your classmates and may adversely affect your participation grade. Please make use of the 10-minute breaks in between classes to fill up your water bottle, use the restroom, etc.

Students are expected to listen and respect other points of view. Phone calls, social media, email, or Internet browsing at any time during class are not acceptable during class except for specific class-related activity expressly approved by your instructor. You are responsible for any and all course material covered in class, announcements, and/or handouts if you are not present for any reason. Students will be held responsible to be up to date by attending to class regularly and checking both email and the Blackboard site of the course frequently (monitor your email and Blackboard announcements at least once every 24 hours).

Communicating with instructor: Please allow at least 48 hours for your instructor to respond to your emails. The weekend is not included in this timeframe. If you have an urgent request or question for your professor, be sure to send it during the week.

Attendance and Punctuality

Attendance is mandatory at all classes. As we understand that you might fall ill or be unable to come to class (e.g. due to a religious holiday, a flight delay, a family wedding/reunion, a graduation, a job interview, etc.) at some point during the semester, you are allowed up to 4 absences. You will be responsible for the material covered and any work missed. You will not need to justify your absences (up to 4) in any way unless you miss an exam, a presentation, a quiz, etc. In this case, you must present a doctor's note (signed, stamped and dated) to be able to reschedule the exam, etc. It will still count as an absence but you will be allowed to retake the exam, etc. We don't encourage you to use all 4 days unless you really need them as your participation grade may suffer if you are not in class.

If used unwisely and you get sick late in the semester, the following penalties will apply:

- On your 5th absence, 1 point will be taken off of your final Spanish grade
- On your 6th absence, 3 points will be taken off of your final Spanish grade
- On your 7th absence, 5 points will be taken off of your final Spanish grade

Punctuality is required. Arriving late to class is disruptive to both the professor and your classmates. Please be punctual, as your professor may count your late arrival as a full absence.

Academic Honesty

Academic integrity is a guiding principle for all academic activity at Pablo de Olavide University. Cheating on exams and plagiarism (which includes copying from the Internet) are clear violations of academic honesty. A student is guilty of plagiarism when he or she presents another person's intellectual property as his or her own. The penalty for plagiarism and cheating is a failing grade for the assignment/exam and a failing grade for the course. Avoid plagiarism by citing sources properly, using footnotes and a bibliography, and not cutting and pasting information from various websites when writing assignments.

Learning accommodations

If you require special accommodations, you must stop by the International Center to speak to Rubén (the Faculty coordinator) to either turn in your documentation or to confirm that our office has received it. The deadline is February 22nd. Rubén will explain the options available to you.

Behavior Policy

Students are expected to show integrity and act in a professional and respectful manner at all times. A student's attitude in class may influence his/her participation grade. The professor has a right to ask a student to leave the classroom if the student is unruly or appears intoxicated. If a student is asked to leave the classroom, that day will count as an absence regardless of how long the student has been in class.
