5 REASONS TO CHOOSE SEVILLE AND PABLO DE OLAVIDE UNIVERSITY

SEVILLE is Spain's fourth largest city and the capital of Andalusia. It is a city rich in history, cultural traditions and art. Its Moorish palaces, narrow cobbled streets and beautiful gardens remind the visitor of centuries past. Its lively street life, colorful fiestas and friendly people offer a warm welcome to every visitor. And Seville's proximity to many places of historic and cultural interest in Spain as well as Portugal and North Africa makes it an excellent base for exploring this region of the world.

PABLO DE OLAVIDE UNIVERSITY is a dynamic and modern university founded in 1997. It is one of Spain's youngest and smallest public universities. Named after an 18th century Peruvian intellectual, the University is a dynamic institution dedicated to educating the men and women of tomorrow through strong academic programs, innovative research, and a highly educated faculty. The University has a population of over 11,000 students and offers both undergraduate and graduate programs in a variety of academic fields.

A PERFECT LOCATION. The University is located on a beautiful 345 acre campus less than 5 miles from Seville's city center. In addition to the many classroom buildings, a library, computer and science laboratories, a dining hall and two cafeterias, the campus contains a gym, padel tennis courts, indoor basketball and soccer courts, an outdoor running track and playing fields. Seville's metro was inaugurated in April of 2009 and its first line links the University with the city center. A bike path also links the University to many parts of Seville.

GLOBAL QUALITY DEGREES. The University houses the following academic departments on its campus: Social Anthropology, Basic Psychology and Public Health; Molecular Biology and Biochemical Engineering; Sports science and Computer Science; Private and Public Law; Business Administration, Economics, Quantitative Methods and Economic History; Financial Economics and Accounting; Philology and Translation; Physiology, Anatomy and Cellular Biology; Geography, History and Philosophy; Physical, Chemical and Natural Systems; Sociology; Social Work and Social Services. The UPO offers over 38 degree and dual degree programs.

RESEARCH. The campus is also home to C.A.B.D. ("Centro Andaluz de Biología del Desarrollo"), the Andalusian Center of Developmental Biology, which brings together researchers from all over Andalusia, some of whom also teach at the UPO. Pablo de Olavide University has competitive research groups and research centers which collaborate at the national and international levels. The University placed second in Research Productivity in the 2013 ranking of public Spanish universities and stands out in Andalusia for its teaching productivity.

THE INTERNATIONAL CENTER

PROF. DR. VERÓNICA PACHECO COSTA

Prof. Dr. Veronica Pacheco Costa is the General Director of Languages and International Students at Pablo de Olavide University. Before joining the UPO in 2007, Veronica spent a year as a visiting professor at North Carolina University at Chapel Hill (USA) and nine years as a professor at CEADE, a center validated by the University of Wales. At the UPO, Verónica was assistant director of the Philology and Translation Department for four years. Currently, she is a professor in the Translation & Interpretation and Humanities degrees and Academic Coordinator of the Master's degree in Bilingual Teaching at the UPO. Her main areas of research are Contemporary Female Literature written in English and Literary Translation of these works written by women, mainly short stories and theatre. She has conducted research at Edinburgh University, Chapel Hill University, Wales University and the University of Hull.

LOLA GÓMEZ is responsible for housing at the Center. She holds a degree in Spanish Language and Literature, a Masters in American Studies and an MBA in Cultural Businesses and Institutions. Lola spent a year on an Erasmus scholarship at King's College University in London and several months working at the European Commission in Brussels as a trainee. Lola speaks English fluently and has an intermediate knowledge of French.

JOANNA WANDYCZ, the Deputy Director of the International Center, holds a Master's degree in Russian & East European Studies from Indiana University and an undergraduate degree in Political Science with a Business Studies certificate from Providence College. Before joining the UPO in 2001, Joanna spent four years at Harvard University advising Venezuelan and Colombian graduate students studying in the U.S. and Canada. Her study abroad experience includes a semester in Strasbourg, France, a year at the Sorbonne in Paris, a year on a graduate exchange scholarship at Warsaw University in Poland and summers in Istanbul, Turkey and St. Petersburg, Russia. Originally from Connecticut, Joanna grew up bilingual (English/Polish) and has spent a total of three years living in Poland. She has also traveled extensively throughout Europe and beyond. Joanna has been living in Spain for 16 years and in addition to Spanish, she speaks French and has an intermediate level of Russian.

JORGE PASCUAL is the Center's Communication Manager. He holds a degree in English Philology from the University of Seville and spent a year living in Mannheim, Germany in 1999. Jorge acts as a liaison between the students wishing to take classes with Spaniards and the various academic departments. He is also the Center's webmaster and publicity designer. He speaks English and German fluently and has an intermediate knowledge of Italian.

RUBÉN DÍAZ, the Coordinator of Professors at the International Center, holds a Masters in Communication and Culture and a graduate degree in Digital Journalism. He graduated in Media Studies from the University of Seville and spent a year on an Erasmus scholarship at the University of Birmingham (UK). Before joining the UPO in 2016, he taught and participated in a range of cultural and academic research projects involving communication and media and culture at institutions such as CIEE, Adelphi University (U.S.), and the European Cultural Foundation. Rubén was co-founder of a cultural organization named ZEMOS98 (2004-2012). In addition to his work at the International Center, he is currently a PhD candidate in Law and Political Science at the UPO. Rubén is fluent in English.

MENTXU ZALLA is the Center's Office Manager. After completing her secretarial degree in 1998, she spent a year in Liverpool, England perfecting her English. Upon returning to Spain, Mentxu worked at a Spanish language academy in Seville for 5 years before joining the UPO in 2005. Mentxu is the student's primary contact person at the Center as she handles the application process, course registration, visa letters, payments and numerous other questions and inquiries. Originally from northern Spain, Mentxu is bilingual in Basque/Spanish and is fluent in English.

THE HISPANIC STUDIES PROGRAM

The Hispanic Studies Program is designed for students wishing to spend a semester or a year abroad while continuing their undergraduate degree. While it offers advanced courses in Spanish, it also caters to the needs of those with little or no background in Spanish by offering classes taught in English in many subject areas. A placement exam at the beginning of the program determines the language level of each student. Courses are 6 ECTS credits (3 U.S. credits) unless specified otherwise.

The list of courses which follows is for both the fall and spring semesters unless otherwise noted. Course offerings are subject to sufficient enrollment. Students with excellent Spanish language skills may enroll in a maximum of two regular university courses per semester.

LIST OF COURSES:

ANTHROPOLOGY

ANTH 215E Health, Healing and Culture: An Introduction to Medical Anthropology

This course is an introduction to medical anthropology, emphasizing the literature on health and healing in different cultures. The objectives of the course are to understand health and healing in a social and cultural context, to compare health, illness and healing in different cultures, and to introduce the theoretical orientations and basic concepts of medical anthropology. Readings illustrate the different theoretical orientations used by medical anthropologists and explore topics such as mental health and illness, healers and healing, disease etiologies, health seeking behavior, child birth across cultures and practical uses for medical anthropology in health care settings. Case studies from Italy, North America, Africa, Europe and Latin America illustrate key concepts. Conducted in English.

HISTORY OF ART AND CINEMA

ART 313E History of Spanish Art

A survey of major works of art from prehistoric times through the present. Painting, sculpture and architecture are examined in the context of their time and place in history. Special attention is given to the art and culture of Seville. Conducted in English. Offered in Spanish when minimum enrollment is met.

ART 330 Historia del Cine Español en Democracia (History of Spanish Cinema during the Democracy)

Spanish cinema undergoes an important transformation following the death of Franco in 1975 and the ensuing democracy. During these last 30+ years, Spanish cinema has become a stronger player on the European scene and has gained recognition which was unthinkable only a few decades ago. This course will analyze the historical evolution of this period as well as introduce the student to Spanish films up to the present time. Conducted in Spanish.

ART/HIS 347 Sevilla: La Expresión de una Ciudad a Través de su Arte (Seville: The Expression of a City through its Art)

With this course, students will understand, distinguish and appreciate the different styles that Seville offers to its visitors and citizens. Seville is, in fact, a work of art and this course takes advantage of this to make it its classroom. Each topic begins with an introduction to the history and the keys to understanding the distinctive places and monuments that students will visit. Conducted in Spanish.

ART/SPAN 333E Film Nations: Comparative Perspectives on Spanish and U.S. Cinema

This course is aimed at establishing the points of convergence and divergence between the history, aesthetics, and social significance of film production in Spain and the United States. It will address issues such as the political economy of American vs. Spanish cinema, film as a social and cultural indicator, audience reception and Spanish and American cinema at the crossroads with other arts and cultural discourses. The course includes in-class lectures and screenings, film discussions, written assignments and exams, and a field research (small group work) on a topic to be discussed with your professor. Conducted in English.

BIOLOGY / CHEMISTRY

BIO 209E Anatomy and Physiology II*

4 U.S. credits with lab - Fall semester only

This course provides an anatomical and physiological overview of human structure and function. Human gross anatomy and histology is related to cell, tissue, and organ level physiology for each of the major body systems. Topics include the musculoskeletal and central nervous systems as well as cardiovascular, renal and endocrine systems. Conducted in English.

* A previous course in Anatomy and Physiology required.

BIO 242E Applied Microbiology

4 U.S. credits with lab - Fall semester only

This course is an introduction to basic concepts and unifying principles of microbiology. The goal of this course is to provide the student with an understanding of the general concepts in microbiology, as well as inform about the general practices used clinically to identify and treat the most common infectious agents. The course is oriented towards the clinical aspects of microbiology, but does introduce historically significant discoveries to convey important topics. The labs are designed to familiarize students with aseptic methods of microbiological techniques and with its applications in clinical and environmental microbiology. Conducted in English.

BIO 361E Biochemistry

A look at the structure of proteins, carbohydrates, and lipids; enzyme catalysis and principles of metabolism, including glycolysis, the citric acid cycle, and oxidative phosphorylation. A comparison will also be made between English and Spanish scientific expressions. In English.

CHE 210E Organic Chemistry I

5 U.S. credits with lab - Fall semester only

Organic chemistry is the chemistry of the compounds of carbon. CHE 210 is the first half of a comprehensive one-year course suitable for science majors. The first semester course includes structural and functional aspects of saturated and unsaturated hydrocarbons with various heteroatom functionalities. Discussion focuses on the mechanistic basis for organic compound reactivity. First semester laboratories concentrate on the basic techniques and procedures used in organic syntheses and separations, including microscale techniques. In addition, modern analytical techniques (e.g. infrared spectroscopy) used in the identification of organic compounds will be discussed. Conducted in English.

Students' Comments:

Would you recommend the program at Pablo de Olavide University to others?

"Yes. Because it is a great place, has nice people and allows you to balance school, work, traveling and your social life".

"It was a wonderful semester! Such a fun campus with great students, great professors and a friendly staff".

"Good opportunity for meeting Spaniards and learning about a different culture"

CHE 211E Organic Chemistry II*

5 U.S. credits with lab - Spring semester only

A continuation of CHE 210E with a focus on complex chemical reactions and syntheses utilizing fundamental principles. The study of mechanistic functional group chemistry will be a primary focus. Second semester laboratory extends previously learned macro- and micro-scale techniques to more complex systems and explores chemistry discussed in the lecture portion of the course. In addition, modern analytical techniques (e.g. nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy, UV-visible spectroscopy, and mass spectrometry) used in the identification of organic compounds will be discussed. Conducted in English.

* Prerequisite: CHE 210E.

ECOL 320E Ecological Systems

This course examines ecology and its large scale patterns and processes, both from an Iberian general perspective, the elements of time and space in the ecosystems, regulatory elements and the application of ecological principles in solving environmental problems. In English.

BUSINESS

BUS 325 / BUS 325E International Marketing (Marketing Internacional)

An introduction to international marketing. Topics include analytical techniques used in international market research, determining prices and distribution channels in an international context, marketing across linguistic and cultural borders. Conducted in English. Offered in Spanish when minimum enrollment is met.

BUS 334E International Management

The topics to be covered include the process of internationalization of companies, alternative forms of international business and international alliances (exports, franchises, subsidiaries, licences, strategic alliances, joint ventures...). The class also looks at environmental factors, globalization, management functions, human resources and diversity, different organizational cultures and the role of strategic business management in a globalized world. In English.

BUS 346 / BUS 346E International Finance (Finanzas Internacionales)

The objective of the course is to introduce the student to the complex world of international finance. Topics will include the increasing globalization of financial markets, international and European monetary systems, foreign exchange markets, direct and indirect international investment. Conducted in English. Offered in Spanish when minimum enrollment is met.

BUS 353E International Financial Accounting

Accounting is often called the 'language of a business', and deals with the interpretation of a firm's operations and finances, is a guiding force to sound management decisions, and helps businesses to grow and flourish by allowing them to make solid business decisions. This course aims to provide students with the knowledge required for a general understanding of Financial Accounting Statements, comparing International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) and Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) currently used in the United States. Conducted in English.

BUS 355E International Human Resource Management

Spring semester only

This course will offer an understanding of cross-cultural issues and human behavior in international organizations and the role of Human Resource Management practices including different approaches to international recruitment and selection, training and development and compensation. It will examine the global and national factors that affect international human resource management and identify the HR challenges that multinational enterprises face in their operations. In English.

BUS 358E Organizational Theory*

Spring semester only

The course examines the most relevant perspectives and approaches which attempt to explain the nature, structure and functioning of organizations. Students will study organizational design and leadership roles which create and transform the organizational structure of an organization. Students will also learn how to diagnose organizational problems and find possible solutions. Conducted in English.

*A previous introductory course in business management is recommended.

BUS 359E Entrepreneurship and New Ventures

This course deals with the identification and exploitation of entrepreneurial opportunities. It introduces students to the fundamentals of creating a business which will succeed in dynamic markets and competitive environments. The course deals mainly with the process of launching new firms although it will touch upon other areas close to entrepreneurship, such as family businesses. Conducted in English.

COMMUNICATION

COM/SOC 320 Comunicación Intercultural (Intercultural Communication)

This course is designed to give participants a solid understanding of what intercultural communication is, how to benefit from it and how to manage it in our personal and future professional lives. Using an interdisciplinary focus, we examine values, customs and communication styles of cultural groups and we learn to interpret communicative behaviour of others. There is a special emphasis on the Spanish form of communication. Conducted in Spanish.

COMM 340E Communication and Media in the Digital Age

This course introduces students to the major political and cultural debates affecting communication and the new media landscapes in Spain and the US. Topics that will be covered over the semester include: an overview of the historical development and main theories of mass communication (including the theories of media effects), critical issues of the digital age such as the rise of both citizen journalism and digital journalism, the emergence of social media, the growing role of grassroots movements and digital activism (focusing on occupy movements), the concept of convergence media and participatory culture, copyright and free expression issues, media representation issues, and their overall impact on democracy, ethics and culture. Conducted in English.

COMM/ART 341E Spanish Identity: Film, Advertising and Pop Music

The main objective of this course is to provide an overview of the social representations of the Spanish identity developed during the democratic period from different areas of the arts and the new and old mass media. We will start with the analysis and commentary of a set of artistic works and media practices understood as expressions of "social creativity." The analyses will prove the existence in these works of speeches and counter-discourses that have contributed to building and renegotiating the Spanish identity in the democratic era. Conducted in English.

ECONOMICS

ECON/POL 321E The European Union

The course will analyze the initial motives behind the creation of the European Community and its subsequent development into the European Union with a unique institutional structure. There will be a study of the EU's key common policies - Economic and Monetary Union, Competition, Agriculture, External Trade etc - and their global effects; paying special attention to E.U.-U.S. relations. Conducted in English.

ECON 331E The Global Economy*

The course will explore the main debates surrounding the nature, effects and attempted management of the global economy; paying special attention to the role of international organizations such as the IMF and WTO, as well as moves towards economic regional integration (EU, NAFTA and Mercosur). Conducted in English.

*A previous economics course is highly recommended.

ECON 391E International Economics*

Fall semester only

The aim of this course is for students to become familiar with the most relevant concepts and methods of analysis in the field of international economics. Students will be provided with the fundamental tools for analyzing the global economy and will delve deeper into the main features of the world economy. In English.

*A previous course in Macro and Microeconomics is required.

HISTORY

HIS 312E History of Spain

An overview of Spanish history from Roman times to the modern era: The Arab invasion and the Christian reconquest, Spain's monarchy,

Students' Comments:

COMM 340E Communication and Media in the Digital Age (Rubén Díaz)
"I greatly enjoyed the class and its relevance to our period in time. I learned a lot!"

BUS 359E Enterprising Initiative and Family Business (José Luis Barbero)
"José is a great professor. He is fun and very knowledgeable. He creates a great atmosphere in class".

ECON/POL 321E The European Union (Jonathan Pass)
"He really cared about students. I learned a lot with him".

Spain's society and identity from 1936 to the present. The role of the church, women, social classes, and nationalism will be discussed. Conducted in English.

HIS 322 Historia Contemporánea de España (Contemporary History of Spain)

The course will present the main historic processes from the 18th century to the present which have been crucial in shaping present day Spain. The course will examine the creation of its democracy, the genesis of the nationalistic problem and the economic articulation of Spain in the international context. Conducted in Spanish.

HIS 340E Ancient and Medieval Spanish History: From Altamira to Isabella and Ferdinand (Prehistory to 1500)

Fall semester only

The main goal in this course is to give students an overview of Spain's history and culture, with special emphasis on events that have marked Andalusia more profoundly from the dawn of history to the sixteenth century. Conducted in English.

HIS 341E Early Modern and Modern Spanish History: From Isabella and Ferdinand to the Euro (1450-the present)

Spring semester only

The main goal in this course is to give students an overview of Spain's history over the past 500 years, with special emphasis on events that have marked Andalusia more profoundly. Additionally, we will study and analyze different trends and phenomena of modern day Spain, along with some traditions that still hold in our time. Field trips, projections of slides and videos will all be key elements in this course to present the student a clearer perception of each period. Conducted in English.

HIS 360 El Mundo Mediterráneo y España (The Mediterranean World and Spain)

Fall semester only

The objective of this course is to investigate the intimate relationship between the Mediterranean world and Spain during the birth of the culture (from pre-history until the Arab invasion). Several fieldtrips to places of historic interest will be an important part of this course. Conducted in Spanish.

HIS/SOC 362 Esclavitud en América Latina y el Caribe (Slavery in Latin America and the Caribbean)

The course aims to study the origins of inequality, racial prejudice and the poverty that a large portion of the Afro-American communities in Latin America and the Caribbean currently live in. It examines how some cultural patterns of African origin persist: music, clothing and such religious beliefs as witchcraft and voodoo. It also offers a global perspective of the phenomenon of slavery, from the introduction of the first slaves to the abolition of this "peculiar institution". Conducted in Spanish.

REL/HIS 357E Christianity, Islam and Judaism in the Spanish Context

This class focuses on the role of the three main monotheistic religions in Spanish history, from Antiquity to Modern-Day Spain. Discussion will focus on the role of Catholicism and other religions in a Democratic Spain in interaction with the growing population of Muslim immigrants, Jewish communities, and the establishment of churches of various denominations around the country. Excursions to important historical sites in Seville will be an integral part of the in situ learning objectives of the course. In English.

LITERATURE

LIT 327 Panorama de la Literatura Latinoamericana 1 (Pre-1820) (Panorama of Latin American Literature) (Pre-1820)

Fall semester only

This course is an overview of Latin American writings from the pre-Hispanic period until the eve of the Independence movements in the 1820s. It includes literary works in poetry and non-fiction, such as the chronicles of conquest. It also features a selection of literary works (including prose, drama, and essay) that have received recognition from specialists and the general reading public for being the most outstanding in Latin America. In Spanish.

LIT 328 Panorama de Literatura Latinoamericana 2 (Post-1820) (Panorama of Latin American Literature 2) (Post-1820)

Spring semester only

This course is an overview of Latin American writings from the Independence era to the present. It includes literary works in poetry and non-fiction, including novel, short story, poetry, and essay. One major objective is to achieve a knowledge of how these works fit into the framework of Latin America's cultural and intellectual history. Conducted in Spanish.

LIT 348 La Idea de España a Través de la Literatura (Imagines of Spain through literature)

The role of literature has been crucial in the articulation of the different imaginaries of Spain. In this course, we will analyze how reflections on the Arab legacy and the intellectual debates about bullfighting and flamenco have been used in literary works as a means to represent the complexity of Spain's cultural identity. We will focus on the creation of la España castiza versus la España heterodoxa and how this confrontation has been articulated through la España colorista of the Romantic travellers, la España negra, la España de la República y del exilio, la España del franquismo, la España de la transición, and la España de la democracia. Paintings and films, as well as philosophical, historical, and political essays will also be studied. Conducted In Spanish.

LIT 365 Literatura Española Contemporánea (Siglos XIX y XX)
(Contemporary Spanish Literature of the 19th & 20th Century)

This course analyzes Spanish literature of the 19th and 20th centuries and specifically the literary movements of Romanticism, Modernism, "La Generación del 98", "La Generación del 27" and the most current trends in Spanish literature. Students will study the literary aspects as they relate to cultural and historic events which influence or have influenced the various literary trends. Conducted in Spanish.

LIT 367E Nobel Prizes in Spanish and Latin American Literature: A Critical Approach

The Nobel Prize in literature has recognized the works of men and women from many different languages and cultures. However, its history is one of controversy: major authors have been ignored by the Swedish Academy. The aim of this course is to analyze the life and the works of the Spanish and Latin American Literature Nobel Prize Winners and the reasons for the Academy's choices. The study will be carried out from a critical and comparative perspective within a historical and literary context. The Generation of 1927, Post-Spanish Civil War narrative or Magical Realism among other great literary tendencies will be included. Conducted in English.

LIT 370 El Cuento Latinoamericano del Siglo XX (Latin American Short Stories of the 20th Century)

This course analyzes the beginnings of the short story in Latin America in the 20th century and its subsequent development, revising the different styles and literary movements which take place over time and the extraordinary contribution of women writers to this genre. The complex social, political and cultural reality will be studied as it is reflected in the Latin American short story. The stories of Horacio Quiroga, Modernism, "Criollismo", Magic Realism and the most recent literary tendencies will be examined. Conducted in Spanish.

LIT 371 Mujer y Literatura Española (Siglos XIX-XX) (Women & Spanish Literature (19th-20th Centuries))

Spring semester only

This course analyzes the role of women in Spanish literature in the 19th and 20th centuries as well as the literary works written specifically by women during both centuries. The role of women in literature of previous centuries will also be examined. It is mainly during Romanticism that women begin to take an active role in literature and by the middle of the 20th century women have the liberty to express themselves and their vision of reality through the world of fiction. In Spanish.

LIT 374 Literatura Española: el Siglo de Oro. El Quijote (Spanish Literature: the Spanish Golden Age. El Quijote)

Spring semester only

The objective of this course is to study the masterpiece of Spanish Literature: Don Quijote. Cervantes's novel is considered to be the first modern novel, and its influence in later literary productions is still present in the creative process for most authors. The course will analyze the structural, thematic and stylistic characteristics of the novel, and it will present the study of the novel as a cultural product, so as to present an in depth study of Cervantes's world. Conducted in Spanish.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

POL 361 Actualidad Latinoamericana: Prensa y Cine (Current Affairs in Latin America: Press & Cinema)

This class aims to promote active class discussion while increasing the student's knowledge of the social, political and cultural life of present-day Latin America. Teaching material will include top stories from the Latin American press as well as Latin American films. Conducted in Spanish.

POL 363E U.S. - European Relations Since World War II

The objective of this course is to examine, first, the tensions which arose between the states on both sides of the Atlantic following the defeat of Germany in 1945 and second, its transformation into economic, political and military cooperation. This cooperation has assured the stability of liberal democracies and consolidates the dependence of the Old Continent on a strengthened United States. Conducted in English.

POL 366 Relaciones del Mundo Latino y los Estados Unidos (Relations between the U.S. and the Hispanic World)

Spring semester only

The objective of the course is to give the student a global perspective of the relations between the United States, Spain and Latin America throughout history. The course will also study the series of problems which have shaped the character of interamerican relations, the mechanisms of economic integration and its repercussions in the socio-political sphere. In Spanish.

POL 372E Contemporary Spanish Politics

This class introduces students to the contemporary Spanish political system. We will study the process of the transition to democracy from an authoritarian regime. With the adoption of the new Spanish constitution, we will look at political institutions, political parties, autonomous regions, the monarchy, the Catholic Church, and the military. Special emphasis will be placed on changing socioeconomic factors, nationalism, immigration and terrorism. Conducted in English.

POL/HIS 352E The Road to Democracy in Portugal, Greece and Spain

During the second half of the 1970's, Southern Europe inaugurated the "third wave of democratization." This course approaches that crucial period of Portuguese, Greek and Spanish history with a comparative methodology. The course will analyze the nature of authoritarian regimes, as well as the transition to and consolidation of democracies. Conducted in English.

PSYCHOLOGY

PSY 251E Cultural Psychology

This course is designed to offer a comprehensive view of cultural psychology and its most important phenomena, examining them from a theoretical basis and observing them in our daily lives. To combine these two perspectives in our classes, we will complement the theoretical dimension with materials such as films, scientific articles, documentaries, and presentations. Conducted in English.

PSY 255E Social Psychology

This course is designed to offer a comprehensive view of Social Psychology and its most important phenomena. Our approach will depart from the theoretical basis of social psychology but our learning process will be directly connected to our daily lives. This means that learning will combine the theoretical dimension with a set of new ways of looking at reality, at social others, and at yourself. To combine these two dimensions in our classes, we will complement the theoretical dimension with examples that will help us to identify and understand the theory on the basis of materials such as films, songs, conferences, and presentations of students' research projects. Conducted in English.

PSY 260E General Sports Psychology

The course will provide an overview of the field of sports psychology and exercise, which involves applying psychology to exercise, sports, competition and health. Topics will cover how sports psychologists work –at any level- with athletes and teams on motivation, concentration, resilient personalities, attention as well as decisionmaking based on interbehavioral, cognitive and other important approaches in sports psychology. Topics will include theoretical foundations of behavior, procedures for solving problems, adherence and motivation, etc. Conducted in English.

SPANISH CULTURE

SPAN 315 / SPAN 315E Spanish Civilization and Culture (Civilización y Cultura Españolas)

This course has two main goals: (i) to increase the students' knowledge and appreciation of Spanish culture and its people and (ii) to build and strengthen their intercultural awareness as a result. Focusing mostly on the 20th century, we will explore Spain's diverse heritage through the different factors which constitute its present identity: history, art, economy, social organization, education, dance, music, and folklore. We will also read about and discuss linguistic and cultural variety, regionalism, nationalism, ethnicity and politics. SPAN 315E is conducted in English and SPAN 315 in Spanish.

SPAN 319E Spanish Culture and History through Film

The course presents a general introduction to the main aspects of Spanish culture and history through cinematographic representation in various films. The class covers the main social, political, and economic aspects of Spanish life from the beginning of the twentieth century until today, with special emphasis on current affairs. Conducted in English.

SPAN 329E Spanish Culture Up Close

Fall semester only

This course offers a panoramic overview of the sociocultural idiosyncrasy of Spain nowadays. Considering the innovative volunteer experience students will have to take part in as an essential part of the course special relevance will be given to the study of the management of time, space and interpersonal relations in Spain, within the theoretical framework of intercultural communication studies. Conducted in English.

Students' Comments:

BIO 242E Applied Microbiology (Fernando Govantes)

"Fernando is a great instructor. He speaks perfect English and is very helpful. I enjoyed his class".

ART 313E History of Spanish Art (Dan Serradilla)

"Very engaging teacher, makes class interesting and applicable to every day life".

SPAN 315E Spanish Civilization and Culture (Enrique Moreno)

"I thoroughly enjoyed this course. He was so passionate about the topics covered and had a plethora of knowledge that made it very enjoyable. I always loved coming to his class".

PSY 255E Social Psychology (Rosa Rodríguez)

"Great Experience! Rosa definitely was dedicated to this subject and expressed her passion for it. She wanted to make us think and feel the same way about psych!"

SPAN/HIS 335E Historical Ties Between Spain and the US

Spring semester only

This course offers a historical overview of the relations between Spain and the United States up to the present day. Starting with the Spanish colonial rule and surviving legacy in the southern and western United States, following with Spain's role during the War of Independence, and ending with the 1898 Spanish-American War and US relations with Franco and democratic Spain, students will become aware of the strong ties that exist between both nations. In English.

SPAN/CUL 339 Tapas: Una Ventana a la Gastronomía y Cultura Española (Tapas: A Window to Spanish Cuisine and Culture)

Food is one of the most important cultural expressions in today's society and the tapa is, possibly, its best example. This course will take place in our kitchen laboratories where we will cook and taste a variety of dishes. Through these dishes, we will discuss the different aspects such as products, producers, history, society, nutrition, culinary technology, quality criteria, etc. All of these aspects are of vital importance in understanding what tapas represent in Spanish culture. Conducted in Spanish.

SPAN/HIS 346 España Medieval: Cristianos, Judíos y Musulmanes (Medieval Spain: Christians, Jews and Muslims)

The main objective of this course is to offer a panorama of medieval Spanish history (711-1492) and bring the student closer to medieval society and the groups that formed it. The course will examine the medieval legacy and the importance of the contributions of the Arab and Jewish cultures to the history of Spain. The student will also study medieval Seville and the influence of this historic period on its current urban features. Conducted In Spanish.

SPAN/HIS 361 Historia del Flamenco en España: Teoría y Práctica (History of Flamenco in Spain: Theory and Practice)
