NEWS

Garry D. Carnegie (RMIT University, Australia) has published in Accounting and Management Review the article entitled “Spotlighting the international historical accounting community and contemplating the future”

(<https://accountingmanagementreview.occ.pt/index.php/AMR-RCG/article/view/103/36>).

The article demonstrates that research in accounting history is not limited to a single country but is situated cross-nationally in terms of both substance and practice. There is a section dedicated to accounting history in different countries.
